

HOME VISITS

The main purpose of home visitation is to establish communication between the home and school by personal contact. The telephone may suffice for communication in most cases. However, many times a representative of the school must visit the home to understand the environment from which the student comes and to help the parent(s)/guardian(s) understand the personnel responsible for their child's education.

[Adoption date: August 6, 1991]